Home games in bold and ALL CAPS.

¹ ACC game times are determined by the league's TV partners: ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU and Jefferson-Pilot. Games may be selected for broadcast up to 12 days prior to game day (and the 12-day window is dropped to only a 6-day window a few times each season). Maryland generally schedules early season home games at 6:00 PM due to warmer temperatures, Homecoming at 1:00 PM for the University, and late season home games at 1:00 PM due to cooler temperatures and loss of daylight. Fan feedback over multiple seasons has communicated the following: night games are generally popular for (1) students and (2) parents who must often juggle youth football, youth soccer, and other activities with their children. Day games are generally popular for (1) fans who travel greater distances (NY, NJ, PA, VA, WV, NC, eastern and western MD) and (2) our older patrons -- these two groups of fans have consistently communicated their dislike of long-distance drives home late at night. Day games also help to avoid the inevitable weather deterioration that occurs each November. However, television selections override other considerations.
